WHEN YOU HAVE A COLD

Give it attention, avoid exposure to cold, and you will be well. The cold is a common ailment, but it can be prevented by taking proper care of yourself. When you have a cold, you should rest, drink plenty of fluids, and avoid exposure to cold. You should also avoid contact with other people who have colds. By following these simple rules, you can keep your cold from becoming a serious illness.

The Cotton Market

Quotations of the Day's Trading From the Corpus Christi Cotton Exchange.

Spot cotton sold at Liverpool yesterday, closing quotations showed an advance of eighteen points over the previous day. The market was active and values were generally higher. The advance was due to a combination of factors, including a shortage of supply and a strong demand from the textile mills. The market is expected to remain active and values are expected to continue to rise.

NOTICE

It is removed over town that the Carpenters' Union has taken action of the situation and raised wages to 10 per cent. We intend to be paid for our work. The scale is 10 per cent over and one-half for overtime, and 10 per cent for Sundays. Contractors and owners have paid different prices for their part. It is a volunteer matter, and it is a matter of conscience. C. T. BROWN, Secy. (Adv.)

Move the Hook Slowly

WHILE using the telephone if you desire to get the attention of the operator, move the telephone hook up and down SLOWLY then the operator will answer promptly. If you move the hook rapidly, the electrical current does not operate properly and no signal is given.

You will help us give good service by following our suggestion: "Don't jiggle the hook."
